Re: Breach of General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) by employees of your organisation.

Dear Ms Thomas,

As you know it is the policy of St Andrews that teachers provide to parents pupil's schoolwork books at the end of the school year so that each parent may regard work and progress.

I regret to inform you that following my review of Charlie's schoolwork this summer a number of highly confidential documents appeared within his pile of booklets. These documents (I have enclosed copies; the original copies I shall retain securely for the time being) include the following:

- Progress target tracker of all pupils in class 3RJ
- Points and progression markings on pupils of class 3RJ
- Points and progression markings on pupils of class 3RJ with teacher's own notes on parents and pupils.

I find it extremely alarming, especially given the nature of the teacher's notes on the parents of pupils, and pupils of class 3D, that notes and documents of this kind should ever make their way into my (or any) parent's possession. This lapse of security also represents a serious breach of General Data Protection Regulations by employees of your organisation.

I trust that along with informing the governor's of the school of this incident, investigating how such a breach of school data was made, you will immediately report this incident to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO). I would be grateful to receive confirmation that you will, and have done so, and in each regard, as noted above, look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Jonathan Cann
Parent of Charles Marcus Cann
